About Me

I am Suriyan Jaisankar, passionate and enthusiastic UX UI Designer from the Fort City of Tamil Nadu (Vellore), with Undergrads in Mechanical Engineering from VIT University, Vellore, India. Most of the times, the ability to perceive is proportional to the quality of understanding, and the quality of outcome. In my case, before this transition into UX UI Design field, I had undergone the Civil service preparation journey which had enhanced my perception by multiple folds. Using that to my fullest advantage, along with professional training in UX UI Design from a reputed Institute, I strive to satisfy my hunger by being a part of the teams in Companies that are tirelessly creating delightful digital experiences and products.
